

Collector's Corner by Arnold Bailey

01:00 AM EDT on Sunday, June 26, 2005

STAR WARS CARDS: Revenge of the Sith, the Star Wars movie that may turn out to be the biggest hit in the series launched in 1977, is presented on trading cards once again by Topps, which has chronicled this galaxy of sci-fi films since the beginning. The new product is a 90-card base set, all foil-stamped and colorful in design. Included are 50 cards that give a chronology of the spectacular scenes in the new film and 15 character cards that present all the main players like Anakin Skywalker, Obi-wan/Ben Kenobi and Yoda. But the big draw for collectors is likely to be the many subsets and inserts Topps has created including an alliance series, planet cards, sketch cards by 42 different artists, and "tri-morph" lenticular cards that show the stages of Anakin's life and transformation into Darth Vader.

original article: http://www.projo.com/sports/content/projo_20050626_26collect.2265489.html