Yesterday we reported on Nickelodeon/Paramount's official announcement for SpongeBob SquarePants - The First 100 Episodes, which brings you the entire first 5 seasons of the show on 14 DVDs this September 22nd. In our write-up, we mentioned that the package art was described a couple of different ways, one of them being "collectible". Actual pictures were not available at the time.

Now, though, we've got an early look at the packaging for you, sent out to retailers by the studio. However, it's marked that it may not be final art, and could be subject to change. Still, this is probably very close to what you'll see in stores, per the description given: "14 discs in a slipcase with 3-D lenticular, giving the package undersea depth, housed in a plexiglass case!" Sounds and looks interesting:
